Hi Alice,

I hope that you are doing well today!

I wanted to take a moment and reach out to thank you for your presentation to our Women in Motion group yesterday. Your talk was entertaining, informative and thought provoking and overall just a fantastic event for us. I know that I did a lot of self-reflection and thinking once it was over (it was even the topic of conversation at our dinner table last night!)

I also wanted to share some feedback that we got from your session: We received a Net Promoter Score of 92, for your session, which is an amazing score!

- We asked people what they liked the most from your presentation and here are some of the comments we received:
 - “I like how the speaker framed bias. She was also very open and vulnerable about her own bias, which made it more relatable”
 - “Self reflection piece – really changed my thoughts and was something that applies to every single person in our work and personal lives”
 - “Alice’s examples of her own bias “discovery” were very brave, I thought. And definitely gave me a lot to consider about my own attitudes and feelings.”
 - “Reminders on checking our own bias and the emotions that go with it”
 - “The examples provided by Alice Meredith were very enlightening”
 - “Valuable learnings, great real-world examples that are food for reflection”

Overall this was a fabulous event and I think your talking points resonated strongly with everyone that attended.

Thank you very much again for the presentation and all the hard work you put into it!

Thanks,

Erin, Nadia, Karen & Nicole and the Ceridian Women in Motion Committee.
